

To Students interested in the 2010 Catalyst Awards

We are looking for graduating students who have dreams of doing good for others. If you are someone who has a growing desire to make a difference in your community, country, or world you might be an excellent candidate for an award of $500-$3000 and a year of personal coaching.

We aren't looking for academic all stars; we want people who are ready to take steps toward serving others. You don't have to be heading to university or college. Our desire is to help you pursue your dreams in the way that will help you take action towards making them come true. That might mean school, but it could also involve travelling to another part of the world, spending time working or volunteering with a great charity, or starting up your own organization.

The details of the application process are available at:

If you dream of making a difference we'd love to get to know you.
